

HOUSE RESOLUTION 124

By Hood

A RESOLUTION to designate May 16, 2007, as "National Peace Officers' Memorial Day" in Rutherford County.

WHEREAS, in providing for the domestic tranquility of the community as a whole, society recognizes the need for a system of laws; and

WHEREAS, the enforcement of such laws has been entrusted to a small number of dedicated individuals; these individuals, known as law enforcement officers, daily face the rigors of human conflict in protecting those whom they so selflessly serve; and

WHEREAS, May 15 of each year, as established by the United States Congress in 1962 and signed into law by President John F. Kennedy in that year, is designated as National Peace Officers' Memorial Day, which is observed in conjunction with National Police Week; and

WHEREAS, the first National Peace Officers' Memorial Day Service was held in Washington, D.C., on May 15, 1982, while the National Law Enforcement Officers' Memorial was dedicated in our nation's capital on October 15, 1991; and

WHEREAS, the 103rd Congress amended the law in 1994 to direct that the U.S. Flag be lowered to half-staff on National Peace Officers' Memorial Day; the amendment was signed into law by President Bill Clinton; and

WHEREAS, since the first recorded police death in 1792, there have been more than 17,000 law enforcement officers killed in the line of duty; and

WHEREAS, 1,649 law enforcement officers have given their lives in the line of duty during the last 10 years, an average of one death every 53 hours, or 165 deaths per year; 145 police officers were killed in 2006; and

WHEREAS, the deadliest day in law enforcement history was September 11, 2001, when 72 officers were killed while responding to the terrorist attacks on America; and

WHEREAS, on average, more than 56,000 law enforcement officers are assaulted each year, resulting in some 16,000 injuries; and

WHEREAS, engraved on the Memorial Wall in Washington are the names of more than 900 federal officers, 500 correctional officers, and 34 military law enforcement officers who have died in the line of duty, in addition to the thousands of local law enforcement officers who have sacrificed their lives in the line of duty; and

WHEREAS, the governmental bodies of Rutherford County and the cities within its boundaries have traditionally joined the United States in remembering and honoring National Peace Officers' Memorial Day; all local and state law enforcement agencies will be holding a flag-raising and wreath-laying ceremony at Murfreesboro/Rutherford County Civic Plaza on May 16, 2007; in remembrance of all officers who have made the ultimate sacrifice for the communities they protect, those law enforcement agencies ask that on this significant day citizens fly their American Flags at half-mast and that motorists turn their headlights on low beam; and

WHEREAS, it is a well-known fact that law enforcement officers are the front line of our domestic homeland security effort every day, dedicating themselves to the service of others, often at great personal sacrifice; and

WHEREAS, numerous citizens of Rutherford County have placed blue ribbons on their car antennas as part of the local law enforcement's Blue Ribbon Campaign; these ribbons are symbols of support and remembrance for those officers who gave their lives while performing their duties; and

WHEREAS, the Tennessee Highway Patrol lost one of its officers on June 15, 1957; Patrolman Lewis Raymond Hendon was killed in a traffic accident which occurred while he was delivering blood to save the life of an accident victim. All of these officers heroically gave their lives while protecting the citizens of Rutherford County; and

WHEREAS, Deputy U. S. Marshall Samuel Enoch Vaughn, a native of Murfreesboro, was killed in Georgia on August 8, 1953, by the two convicted felons he was transporting to a federal prison in Atlanta; and

WHEREAS, in 2005, there were more than 5.2 million violent crimes committed in the United States, an average of 594 every hour; however, the annual number of violent crimes has declined by 58% since 1993; and

WHEREAS, law enforcement officers are the first line of defense between criminals and law-abiding citizens, and they must often make life and death decisions in an instant; they are trained not only to enforce the law but to do so without prejudice or malice, while using good judgment and discretion, and with the highest regard for the constitutional rights of all people; and

WHEREAS, law enforcement officers must possess a general knowledge of medicine and psychology, as well as courage, courtesy, respect, and self-restraint; they can never allow their personal feelings to influence their decisions; and

WHEREAS, law enforcement officers recognize that the badge is a symbol of public trust, and they must be forever mindful of the trust placed in them; they must strive to earn that trust, even in the face of adversity; and

WHEREAS, it is fitting and proper that those law enforcement officers who have dedicated their lives to the service of humanity through law enforcement, and those officers who have given their lives in this noble cause, be recognized and remembered for the accomplishment of their high purposes; and
